Watch out for Gators, and I don't mean fans.

F'en gates .... human and reptile!

Found some decent resources online and looks like I should be fairly safe with some of the canals I target right b4 the Everglades. Will still be careful but a lower % of running into one not being all the way in the glades. Had a run in with some crocs on a golf course in Mexico .. almost had a heart attack when the 1st one surprised me.

Will be targeting peacocks and other bass but maybe get surprised with some other species.
