

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Big Spring/Newville????

Re: Big Spring/Newville????

Author: : greenghost

Date: : 2013/12/13 11:26:09

URL:

Quote:

Fishidiot wrote:

Quote:

albud1962 wrote:

What is curious is that the creek was a series of mill ponds which held many fish. Wouldn't dissolved oxygen and thermal impacts been a problem back then?

Perhaps it may be connected to the fact that back in the day there was consistent and meticulous channel maintenance performed by the mill owners(?).

I have heard that too, Fl... the mill owners not only did channel work but also would periodically drain their ponds and flush them... in essence giving the stream an enema.