PP,

The fly line is a back up for my current line which may not make it through May if I keep standing on it. The 4wt will go to the nephew since he live 150 yds from Clarks Creek. The Axiom will be dedicated to sink tip line and Muppet Babies. Sad thing is that I lose interest in chucking meat about 30 minutes into the day. The 9'6" 7 weight will be for steelhead and smallmouth which I expect to do a couple of times a year. I may also underline the 7 weight and use it for indi fishing. The only problem is the Redington reel is too big for that 4 weight.

I tried streamer fishing twice this year from a driftboat with a junkk rod that felt like it might snap trying to pick up the sink tip. You need the right tools for the job. This will also give me incentive do some different types of fishing.

Geebee, you got some sweet deals.
