

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Efforts to Preserve Last Population of Greenback Cutthroats

Re: Efforts to Preserve Last Population of Greenback Cutthroats

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2013/12/17 17:24:44

URL:

There is still a dispute over whether or not the fish being used are or are not greenbacks. If I lived in Colorado I'd help, but there are too many streams in PA that need help, for me to worry about what's going on in other states.

Co. stocks tons of fish in what was once cutthroat habitat, they should halt those stockings and get the non-natives out of those streams and restore the Cutts.