Have fun!

FFing (and many other things) is about confidence in what you doing. So go with what got ya there... ie fish how you like to fish and you'll catch some and you'll learn some.

I've seen many times in "technical" situations matching the hatch with exact imitations and long leaders and some yahoo will come through with a big, gaudy garbage fly and do just as well as everyone else. (and I call them yahoos only because I was the one trying to be technical!)
