

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Starting on Limestoneers

Re: Starting on Limestoneers

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2013/12/21 13:33:15

URL:

FI hit it: move slowly.

You can be in blaze orange, move slowly and not spook the fish, or you can be in camo, move quickly or in jerks and spook every one. Watch your shadow-- cross the creek when needed. Cast high and let the line land softly, unless in broken/riffled water. Think that on top, there can only possibly be midges or small BWO, each of which will imitate another to the trout's brain.

If you must, use any 14-18 mayfly or stonefly nymph. If all else fails, try the Woolly Bugger, #12 or preferably less. No weight (unless in unusually deep pool), or very, very little weight, and keep a relatively tight (no more than 6 inches or less of slack between fly and) line.

Catch trout. Have fun. In moderation. And slowly.