And maybe they should prohibit spring creek ducks from flying to other waterways. How about prohibiting flies that are fished on the bottom and aren't frozen, boiled or de-greased before fishing elsewhere?

Seriously - anyone have any idea where this came from?

Just read about a guy from colorado that wants to start a professional fly fishing tour like bassmaster. Worried that Spring crk might be on their list to fish - like other competitions. Who knows who brings what to the PA creeks - do they have the same concerns for the fishery that residents have? Are there more invasive organisms coming here in the future? (probably - regardless of the level of concern)
