The "Extended Trout Season" is bogus in my opinion.

Who would like to see a Catch and Release regulation on all trout streams after Labor Day?

I think the PFBC should still stock the streams, but manage them under C&R guidelines from Labor Day until the opening day of trout season. That way they get some people to fish in the fall and get some fish to hold over into the spring.

I never really thought much about it, but a long C&R season like that would be a great idea, IMO. Fish for fun rather than fish for food.

Less and less fish are stocked, so this reg change would keep more fish in the stream during the fall and winter. Also, more holdovers would be left in the streams for the spring season.

I'm not sure if the FBC would ever propose it, but I like it. Put me down as a +1.
