How do these hold up after a good chomping? Feathers on patterns like these make me wary of trying them out.

I was talking about this the other day with a friend when discussing Kelly Galoups streamer camp, which is $1,500 for three days or something (insane!), but basically..... how many different giant streamer patterns do you need after you develop a few tried and true ones?

There's no right or wrong answer, only the time you spend on them.
