
Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : MEAT CHUCKERS --- Article(s) for you!

Re: MEAT CHUCKERS --- Article(s) for you!

Author: : Night_Stalker

Date: : 2013/12/30 23:34:45

URL:

Check your local regs RE hooks. Most of the water I will be chuck in' in do not have regs.

I have been considering the down-sized options. Because 1. I currently do not have enough supplies to allow for that scale, and 2. I want to actually be able to fish with it. Maybe build up to the 12" sucker / fallfish size. Going out throwing big muskie lures/plugs just makes me laugh while I am doing it.

jay348---thanks for the link. It will take a while to digest due to the length...

Depending on the body of water...catching just one nice fish is a common experience. My past couple weeks have produced single large fish following to the end of a retrieve and promptly thumbing their nose at me and gone in a tenth of a second. The same areas, I am hoping later into the winter, will offer multiple large fish in one area during the same visit...they have in the past.

Additionally, drinking and mind altering are involved...Read the articles!

Attached are some pics of Tom Lynch and fish caught on his flies...

Attach file:

 408498_457162754350727_1474697948_n.jpg (74.49 KB)

 1520737_618625688204432_455166697_n.jpg (80.96 KB)

