

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : A Lancaster County Brookie Stream

Re: A Lancaster County Brookie Stream

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2008/10/3 10:44:28

URL:

Sal:

I wouldn't really worry about chubs invading this stretch of creek.

If the conditions are right for them to be there, - they're likely going to wind up there anyway.

One of my favorite trout streams also happens to have a lot of bass and fallfish in it also. But they don't seem to bother the trout at all, which are some of the healthiest, fighting fish anywhere.

I've also seen carp in all of our best trout streams, - and they don't seem to pose any problems.