Thanks for more help.

I think it should be a fun challenge to target them. I am working on building some leaders for nymphing (Czech/Polish styles) in addition to learning swinging wets to a finer degree. Kind of my two main goals this year.

I have also thought of a Dry Dropper Rig of a dry, soft hackle, and a midge...probably saw it in passing somewhere. I still have trouble fishing tiny midges and nymphs low and slow and knowing how drag free my drift is at that point.
