

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : A Lancaster County Brookie Stream

Re: A Lancaster County Brookie Stream

Author: : wetnet

Date: : 2008/10/4 9:47:26

URL:

About eating them this is the only reference I could find.

Quote: "I have eaten some creek chub, and if I recall correctly they were somewhat like young catfish. best fith the flour or cornmeal in a deep fry.

I have heard some people say if there are creek chub there are no trout but we disprove that all of the time. We have been known to launch chubs to the shores. More due to barbless hooks and too hard a set then on purpose.

I have a friend that lives in the area. Send me a PM and I'll have him check it out. He knows and fishes quite a few native brookie streams and has a great appreciation for them as well.