The fishing soft hackle thread in the General Forum has gotten my wheels really turning over the past week or two. I have been stocking up my box with some of my favorite soft hackle patterns in preparation for this spring. The idea shared about using cdc for the soft hackle material is something that I never tried before. So while sitting at the vise tonight and tying up my normal PT soft hackle patterns I added a strand of green flashabou and a type 1 black cdc feather and here is the Soft Hackle cdc Pheasant Tail flashback. Something a little different but I am looking forward to given this one try.
