

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : late winter/spring flies

late winter/spring flies

Author: : poopdeck

Date: : 2014/1/22 10:52:55

URL:

Been honing my skills tying buggers, clouser minnows, beetles, ants, green weenies, eggs, Griffiths gnats, prince nymphs, PT nymphs, flashback PT nymphs, antron yarn bugs and zebra midges.

Time to tie something else. What would be some good flies to tie to add to my late winter early spring arsenal. I plan on doing some trout fishing in the State College area as well as looking for some browns on the upper Delaware river. I may even try a few stocked streams in SE PA if I get desperate. For years I have been going down to the local creek just to watch opening day maybe I'll jump into the fray on about day three.