After enjoying their beer, I tried to find Snitz creek last year using the GPS guide. It took me to some farm field. The creek itself was only 4 or 5 feet wide.. so I didn't bother to try. I went to another section and it was maybe 6 feet wide and right behind a large row of houses. I was not in the mood to fish fairly sterile water in someone's back yard, so I just went for Quitty instead.

Are there any parts of Snitz that look and feel like a real trout stream? My impression is that it's just a water/runoff trail that they throw fish into for locals.
