

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : late winter/spring flies

Re: late winter/spring flies

Author: : troutpoop

Date: : 2014/1/24 20:52:00

URL:

I almost exclusively fish the surface, not always but almost. I have found CDC to be a cheaper alternative than hackle, almost a bargain. Aside from getting slimed which is a pain I think it lands softer in the water and does a better job with selective fish.

When I do use conventional hackle I hardly ever tie in wings. I have never found a difference. I do fish a bunch of different styles from CDC Petijean to comparadun to bubble mergers to catskills and parachutes.