Fishman12992 - so odds are that if the weather continues like this, there may be no fly fishing for me (or anyone) in march. Ice fishing is a no go for this guy.

Looking at the forecast for Erie next week it's going to be in the 40s with rain. That will likely cause massive ice jams and flooding, but once the creeks recede it'll be game on. If we don't get any more crazy cold weather after the thaw we should be fishing the tribs by March.
