

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Smallmouth set up

Re: Smallmouth set up

Author: : cricketontherun

Date: : 2014/2/15 23:12:21

URL:

You know; I've never really fished them. I understand that there are some benefits like turning over flies well; less/no memory; and also cheap to build. Maybe a little more time consuming to make, and not as stealthy as mono or Fluro, but they make sense. I may have to give it a try just to know! What have you got to loose. If you find they spook fish make sure you have another style leader on you. That would be my only concern.