

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : gear selection.for Erie Steelhead

Re: gear selection.for Erie Steelhead

Author: : CRB

Date: : 2014/2/16 13:31:42

URL:

With this winter freezing up 90% of the surface of Great Lakes my bet is the long term forecast will be not accurate.

I a fan of a 6 wt 9' with a fighting butt. I've found a rod 10' or longer makes landing a fish(tailing) more difficult especially if alone. Only way I've found that dose not harm the fish or cause the rod tip to bend dangerously close to braking is with a long handle net. It works well but just one more thing to carry.

Reels, use whatever you like. I have used $30 to $300 reels and all land fish.