Those flies will catch fish. They look good to me.

I'm unsure what the two hackled black flies are from the picture. The rule for hackle length on Catskill style dry flies are 1.5x the hook gap. I use that rule on buggers too.

Green Weenies will catch fish, are simple to tie, and require minimal (manufactured) materials, I think the disdain stems from that. I wouldn't concern yourself with said disdain.
