I'm having a hard time getting this tapering thing down. TD55, I love how all of the deer hair is completely uniform and gets progressively bulkier towards the head. I've done it a few times, but I can't seem to get it right, especially with articulated flies. I think better buck tail would make a big difference. I've found some really good ones here and there but usually they're usually pretty terrible these days.

What are some tips on getting the taper down? I've watched Brad Bohem tie the Optic Hangtime Minnow like 10 times and it looks so easy, but it never turns out like that when I do it.
