TB, "just right" is about right. It feels very nice. I shouldn't be surprised. As I said, the guy who gave it to me also gave me tons of glass. He really likes the feel of glass, so for him to have a really fast rod in his arsenal would be odd.

The one thing is, he overlined it with 6wt to slow it down even more. I casted it w/ 6wt, but it felt a little heavy to me. 5wt really was the sweet spot.

He also gave me a rod he built on first generation graphite, which felt very much like glass.
