

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Fishing Etiquette for Erie.

Re: Fishing Etiquette for Erie.

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2008/10/27 18:58:50

URL:

I think if you take your fish out of the crowd to fish it so the others can fish you should get your spot back. In fact I would go back and muscle in. How could they ever give you a hard time being that you just gave them a few minutes to fish.

I have not encountered a situation where I was pushed out. In fact, in the spirit of combat fishing, If the guy next to me hooks up and takes his fish away from the masses, I will help to fill in his spot to save it for him.

I think it's pretty rare to get schwanked, generally the guys locked up in a hole are very cool about it. I would venture to guess you'd even get support from the guys across creek if some yo-yo moved in ou your spot.