Paul,

I liken it to poker...everybody knows why the other guy is there and respects their right to be there but nobody is gonna tip their hand...or give up their chair for fear they may lose a shot at the pot.

As long as you go in with that mind frame, you won't be disappointed with the crowds...or their behavior. Save a few idiots that try to sneak a peak at your hand....if you get my drift. (no pun intended)

If you don't like poker...take a walk to the Black Jack tables.
