If you want to learn to fish those fantastic creeks i would suggest hitting Mike up for a day of guiding. My brother and I have been out with him twice and he is one hell of a nice guy and a very knowledgable fisherman. We had fished those creeks in the Cumberland Valley for a year or two before getting his assistance and never caught more than 1 or two fish per outing. But, like you said, even a fishless day on those beautiiful Spring Creeks is a good day. Once we went out with him our catch ratio went up astoundingly after learning a few good tricks of the "Spring Creek Trade". I also came away from our last trip with a signed copy of the book.
