Catching 28" and 33" stripers is not that difficult. Although I like to eat the smaller fish why not set it to 1 fish over 40". That would really limit the amount harvested and provide a better amount of filets. Or simply drop it to one fish over 28".

While I really enjoy striper for dinner I rarely keep two a trip just because its hard to eat all of the fish before it gets freezer burnt. Sometimes I toss them all back. It is frustrating to watch people who keep two every time while knowing that they are simply cleaning the freezer burnt stuff out and replacing with new stuff to await freezer burn. It's impossible to eat two a day or even two a week yet I see people I know keeping everything they can.
