kbob, I bought a pair last year and fished them roughly three times a week spring, summer, and fall on rocky bottom creeks as I mainly fish for smallmouth. They are just as good as when I bought them and I have been very happy with them. They are comfortable, they are light, and they seem to be durable.

I bought them thinking if I got one year out of them I would be happy. I have no doubt that they will be fine this year and probably next year as well.

I think proper care and fitting helps to maintain the shelf life of any boot. I properly dry them after each use, I don't leave them in the trunk of my car, when wet wading I make sure that my socks are thick enough to fill the extra room that the waders normally fill.

You almost can't go wrong with buying them at the price they are.
