

---

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : South Branch Coduros Creek, York County?, 3/9/2014

Re: South Branch Coduros Creek, York County?, 3/9/2014

Author: : D-Rock023

Date: : 2014/3/28 21:57:51

URL:

I am not sure about the whole situation either. It's possible they stocked the wrong section, because this section has never been on the list for opening day, only 4/15. unusual because it has been stocked as long as I can remember. I was hoping they would still stock without being on the list. the two guys said they were driving by and made a special point to come down and confront me. I don't think they were aware of all the year round regs. They were telling me I could fish up centerville creek because it's not stocked. After we went back and fourth a little, I said something along the lines of agree to disagree I'm not knowingly breaking any laws. tried to shake his hand but he wouldn't even do that, so he must have really thought he was right. I also noticed that Maurice said the year round section ends at grainery rd bridge. As clear as I can see pfbc website says it extends all the way to seven valleys. Somewhere else I looked said grainery I think.