Sorry also try and fish during the week on the well known streams, weekend are bad. If you see wet foot prints on rocks try and get around them they will put the fish down and depending on the water levels for hours. If you are going during a long weekend hit the small stream you need to walk in. Hikers are okay but if you see signs that they are fly fishing (bumper stickers or whatever) drive to the next stream it will make your trip more enjoyable. If the watersnakes are active move to another stream.
