

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Carrying you net

Re: Carrying you net

Author: : Foxgap239

Date: : 2014/4/4 15:23:07

URL:

Orvis sells a net minder which consists of an earth magnet strength detachable set attached to each other with a elastic coil. I attach one end to the D ring on my vest and I then have a french clip to attach my net to the other end of the net minder. I use it on my back and like it a lot. When I'm landing the fish I grab the net which releases the two halves of the magnet but is still connected to the net minder. Once I net the fish to take picture, I release the net from the minder using the french clip. When done, I reclip the french clip and then put the net behind me until the two magnets mate with each other. Just watch your finger because if your skin pinches between the two halves, it hurts like hell!

See below only mine has a french clip.

Attach file:

---

 318T.jpg (26.50 KB)

