

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Bethany Beach De.

Re: Bethany Beach De.

Author: : marcq

Date: : 2014/4/9 0:07:50

URL:

never fished de the closest ive been is cape may. if you are not fly fishing with the grand kids and want a fun way to catch fish especially fluke the most productive way is to go with a bucktail with some gulp. last year around the same time I was in cape may and nailed a 24 and 20 inch back to back and a bunch of shorts. I take my little cousin down to the Brigantine area and we slay the fish. ive had may 100 fish days with her. most shorts but a few keepers. usually best in back bay areas. that's the time where you can catch some monsters to. if you want to do that find a safe inlet or jetty and cast it out and tell them to reel it in slowly. any thing will hit it and its funny cause she seems to catch more fish then me. I think its cause they are not setting the hook like one of the bass masters as I do. its what I catch all my big fluke on. it works everywhere. open beach, back bay, inlets. the gulp in the buckets seems to hold up better then the ones in the pack. one other think is fluke have a mouth like a blue fish and can bite somewhat hard so try to keep fingers away.