The 15 pound brown referred to by captbugger has been harvested by a group of guys. I was told they have also caught and kept several other large browns from the same place. We are speaking of "wild" 26 to 32 inch fish that would be possibly 15 years old or older. I'm not sure that Big Spring will continue to be an option for monster browns. Rainbows in Big Spring is a different story. I have not caught anything large there...yet. An adventure to look forward to. Big Spring is not entirely catch and release unfortunately. The Le Tort is a stream that could also that could benefit from additional catch and release classification of it's wild fish.
