If you want to catch big trout you have to change your whole understanding of trout fishing. Like they said night is right. I wouldnt say a trout becomes top predator until they get in the 20 inch class. They become meat eaters not to say that they will not eat bugs. A 20 inch fish has probably seen a few flies in its day so they get picky. Thats why guys thow big streamers at them. The fish mike strike because it's hungry but I think its more cause they are annoyed by the fly. Like any other big fish they get lazy. They are going to eat maybe three for four times a week. Its usually something large like a smaller trout or other baitfish. They hide in deep pools or along banks where its easy to ambush pray.
