

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : valley creek

Re: valley creek

Author: : AndyP

Date: : 2014/4/15 15:13:25

URL:

There probably is/was sediment or "particulates" related to to the sewage overflow in the stream bed. The heavy rain today and tonight are the best thing that can happen at this point. A couple of really good flushings is what the stream bed needs. The fish seem to have survived ok but the concern was more about the little critters that the trout eat...how will they be impacted. My .02 cents.