

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Getting it to the bottom ....

Re: Getting it to the bottom ....

Author: : WildTigerTrout

Date: : 2014/4/22 22:32:54

URL:

Stagger, by varying the angle of the tuck cast you spend less time switching weights. If I want the nymph to sink fast I cast so the fly goes in at a steep angle. If I want the fly to sink slower than I cast to get the fly to hit the water at a shallow angle. All this can be done WITHOUT switching the amount of weight on your leader.