Gentlemen (and ladies, for any on the forum),

I hope all is well! I haven't posted in some time, nor have I been on the water much over the past year. I'm living proof that having children changes your life. In any event, I have been able to free up a few hours to get on the water (God bless my wife), but I'm in need of someone with experience who wouldn't mind sharing a few pointers and critiquing my deficiencies and shortcomings.

Bottom line is I'm looking for some help and would be appreciative of any you're willing to provide. I'm heading out, likely to the Yellow Breeches since I live so close to the stream, on Sunday morning, preferably around 7 or so. Is anyone open to joining me?

Thanks!
