Hello to the fly fishing gods of PA. I'm new to this forum but have been stalking for a while. I've been interested in fly fishing for a while now, but only recently got a rod and some flies. I am in Collegeville and am having a terrible time casting. I've watched a ton of videos online, but I'm not doing well. I don't have waders yet so I haven't spent much time on the water yet. I was wondering if there is anyone willing to spend an hour or so with me to help...I'm a stay at home dad so I'm limited to the mornings the kids are at school, Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning. Thanks guys mad gals, love this forum and can't wait to truly understand what is going on!

Hey Teapot,

The Orvis stores in Downingtown and Plymouth Meeting Meeting offer free beginner fly-fishing classes every Saturday from late March until the second week of June. There are spots available.
