Gfen,

I finally got around to trying to flip the reel to the other hand, and found, much to my chagrin, the metal drag plate was, as you described, not possible to flip. Am I S.O.L, or was i just not doing something right? there was no way to reattach that plate and have it work without the groove.

I just can't see trying to fish it with the other hand, so I think I'll be putting that one on the swap board for anyone interested. It's in pretty rough shape, but seems to still be fishable if anyone has interest in a Right Hand Reel. No line on it at present.
