

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Bugs on Hammer

Re: Bugs on Hammer

Author: : sarce

Date: : 2014/6/26 22:16:57

URL:

I looked up The yellow drake pictures mentioned by troutbert. I'm not convinced they are a match, but there were only three pics on troutnut. The mottling on the wings definitely does not match any Cahill pic that I can find. The one i posted here was on the larger side of what I saw. I'm not great at guessing hook size but I would say easily a #10. Possibly #8.

I am leaning drake now but I really don't know what kind it would be. My first thought on the stream was a small green drake. I have seen GDs/coffin flies that size on streams here in centre county- not in the same league size wise as the ones you see on Penns.

For those who said yellow drake. What identifiers do you use to tell the difference between those and green drakes?