

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Good Fly rod for warmwater and salwater fly fishing for around $300.

Re: Good Fly rod for warmwater and salwater fly fishing for around $300.

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2014/7/13 10:03:24

URL:

Quote:

willdeb wrote:

Hello I have been searching for fly rods around the web and I can't figure out a good fly rod for for larger freshwater/ warmwater fish and small to medium sized saltwater fish.

I also would suggest a 9' 8wt.

There are many rods out there and web is really the worst place to shop for a fly rod. I suggest you get out there and try casting some rods before you buy. Nearly every FFER is different and the only way to find a rod you really like is to actually hold it in your hand and cast it.

I know, it's a bother, but I'm guessing you really don't have a lot of money to waste. Finding a rod that works well for you the first time actually saves money (you won't end up selling it for a loss on some website because you really don't like it).

Or, if you keep it, you will be stuck with a rod that really doesn't work well for you and add to your enjoyment of the sport and sooner or later you will be in the market for another rod.

Finally, a rod that does what you need it to do will add to your ability to fish well and progress with your skills.