Thought I'd document where I ended up for reference. My better half wasn't up for too much hiking so we did not do any forest wild trout streams but I did find some nice spots on stocked creeks with very easy access/

South River, North Park , Waynesboro, VA = nice delayed harvest stretch, cool water, good flow, good gradient, wooded banks. Caught a few chub on dry.

South River , Ridgeview Park, Waynesboro, VA = slower flow, more open, public park feel. Less attractive for fly fishing but I think you could hike upstream to better area. Caught a couple of bluegill on dry and moved on.

Maury River, Glen Maury Park, Buena Vista, VA. Bigger stream in a beautiful setting, the locals told me the trout were long gone so I popped a muddler in the shadey areas and got some big bluegills and a couple of smallies.
