There are a couple really excellent 'How To' books mentioned. My favorite that I reread every year or so is "Nymph Fishing for Larger Trout" by Charles Brooks. It is out of print but generally available in paperback. It will shave five years off your learning curve. For insect ID, it is tough to beat "Hatches II" by Caucci and Nastasi. Tom Rosenbauer's "Reading Trout Streams" contains a wealth of info for the novice and intermediate flyfisher. Flytiers have so many great tying books available, but if you can only have one, albeit expensive, "The Flytier's Benchside Reference" is an excellent choice.
