

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Lycoming Creek, 9/28/06

Lycoming Creek, 9/28/06

Author: : MKern

Date: : 2006/9/28 19:51:22

URL:

Had more time to fish it today. Fished from 1:15 to 6:30. I had my freind out for his second day. We started of slow and he was mad that he didn't catch any and I was. I switched him over to BWO dun and he missed a couple sippers and finally got his first unassisted fish. Later, we moved upstream and I saw a rather large brownie striking the surface hard in a spot that is nearly impossible to get a dragless drift. I told him how to cast to the area, about the size of a sink, and on his second cast to hokked up with the fish. It turned out to be a 15" wild. So that's 3 wilds in 2 days - unheard of on Lycoming.

Managed a few more fish through out the day and left the stream when it started to lightning.

His skills have imporved so much in one day and I think he is hooked on the sport.