

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : strike indicators

Re: strike indicators

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2008/12/5 7:09:27

URL:

Tom,

Great knot.

<http://www.animatedknots.com/prusik/index.php>

I'm going to give it a try to make a dropper rig. Instead of using the tag ends of a blood or surgeons knot for a dropper off the main line, I'd like to tie a loop on the end of a short dropper section and attach it using that knot just above my tippet knot. It would seem to keep the dropper line standing out at 90* to the main line to minimize tangles. Also, rather than cutting and retying a blood knot with a long tag end for the dropper, it looks like an easier way to replace a dropper.

Good stuff, thanks.