

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Staying warm.

Re: Staying warm.

Author: : JustFish

Date: : 2008/12/8 17:04:48

URL:

Quote:

acristickid wrote:

For me, seems the feet are the primary issue. I really have NOT been comfortable while wearing 2 pairs of socks.

Any tips you can share on staying warm out there?

Paul,

I wear regular socks and I am fine. What kind of waders are you wearing? I have bootfoot neoprenes for the winter that are one shoe size bigger. Since nothing is cut off I retain more heat in my waders. The guys I use to go steelheading with all wore stocking foot and didn't last all that long. They were all complaining of cold feet and I was fine.

Granted stockingfoot are lighter and they say are easier for hiking longer distances. But what the hell is the difference if your feet are freezing cold?