

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : anybody ever fish the swatara?

Re: anybody ever fish the swatara?

Author: : gemiller

Date: : 2008/12/9 21:29:29

URL:

One day I will have to go back to the old iron bridge and get a picture, that's a neat site to see also. I have only once dared the walk across it.

It's about 50 feet above the water, it's an old railroad bridge and the ties are almost all gone so its just 2 foot wide beams running across it.

I don't have exact depth knowledge but rumor has it it's at least 40 feet. I know I have seen people jumping from the bridge, but it's not the safest because people have dumped stuff like refrigerators off the bridge. I have seen quite a few nice catties caught here, as well as rock bass in the masses.