All those flies look AWESOME!!

just a little input from a very novice fly tyer to say the least. I tied a few freshwater shrimp and I like the one from the swap. I actually used the fuzzy end (yeah dont know the name) of a mallard flank feather and tied it in for the legs of the shrimp. Just messing around one day and liked how it looked. Wondering if anyone else has done so and besides pine creek (saw the pictures posted on this site of the HUGE freshwater shrimp) where and when do you use freshwater shrimp.
