My friend, whom I've been "turning onto" fly fishing over the past year, gave me "Fly fishing through the Midlife Crisis" by Howell Raines. I left it in my garage, and rediscovered it on Sunday. Wow! What a read!

I couldn't put it down, and when I was finished, I said to my wife, "You should read this, so you know why I fish".

She said, "I know why you fish."

Without letting her finish, I said, "I didn't really fully understand why I fish until I read this book."

If you already haven't, GET A COPY!

If you've read it, I'd enjoy hearing your thoughts.
