I recently went into the Dickson City Orvis up here in NE PA for a few simple tying materials. Less than $15 worth. Haven't spent $50 there in the four years I have lived up here. While on this last visit I asked the owner about local stream access and he immediately yelled over to his worker to mind the store and offered to take me out in his car to show me the local points. That is one Orvis I will be going back to.

That's what I call service. I've learned a heck of a lot talking to people in the real fly shops. The independent shops are a big part of flyfishing in PA, IMHO.
